Learner Information

Many people have savings and/or chequing accounts. It is important to understand the differences between these accounts to determine which one is best for you.

Scan “Types of Bank Accounts” and “My Banking Situation”.

Types of Bank Accounts

A bank account is a safe place to put your money and help you save it.

The most common types of bank accounts are chequing accounts and savings accounts.

A chequing account is an account where you can write cheques and pay bills. It usually pays less interest than a savings account.

A savings account is an account where you earn interest on the money you put into it.

My Banking Situation

	Yes	No	I don't know
I keep money in a savings account
I add money to a savings account whenever I can
I have a chequing account
I use my chequing account to pay bills
I understand the fees my bank charges for different things
I read my bank statements or check them online
I use my bank account to send or receive money from family and friends
